Written by Off The Wire on Monday, 13 June 2011

Canada's High School B-Ball Star Athletes Take Over Toronto's ACC on June 21, 2011.

LOVERS OF BASKETBALL UNITE! Phase 1's Annual All Canada Classic will go down June 21 and is hosted this year at the Air Canada Centre. Now in its eleventh year, the All Canada Classic brings the best high school male and female basketball talent from across the nation. Players who have participated in the past have gone on to play in the NCAA, NBA, national and college teams and include many NBA Draft prospects.

In 2010 with over 6,000 people in attendance, the All Canada Classic, the "crown jewel" of PHASE 1, was secured alongside the McDonald's All American Game and the Jordan Brand Classic as one the largest and talent filled high school all star games in the world. For the past decade the All Canada Classic "Rumble in the T-Dot" has featured the best and biggest name male and female Canadian high school basketball players. High school stars like Corey Joseph and Tristan Thomspson, both McDonald's All Americans attending U. Texas, Myke Kabango of Findlay Prep the 2011 # 3 ranked player in North America and Denham Brown, 2006 NBA Seattle Supersonics draft pick all played their final high school games in Canada at this event.

With the best young players Canada has under one roof, the All Canada Classic is the ideal event to witness future professional players for scouts and fans alike. PHASE 1 is committed to becoming a powerful agent for change in the lives of young people in the GTA and beyond. We are constantly exploring ways to improve ourselves as an organization and provide support for our alumni and current members. Doors open at 3:00 p.m. June 21, 2011 and is open to the public. Tickets available at: <http://www.allcanadaclassic.com/pages.php?sid=10>
