

NBLC Partners with All Canada Classic

By: Bill McLean Section: The Blogroll - In: Blogroll

21 JUN 2011

0

5

Share

Like 5 people like this. Be the first of your friends.

Brought to you by

QUESTION OF THE DAY

Rainmen owner Andre Levingston is working hard to promote the NBL of Canada this summer.

The National Basketball League of Canada is pleased to announce their partnership with the 2011 All Canada Classic, taking place today at the Air Canada Centre in Toronto, Ontario.

"We are extremely pleased to support the All Canada Classic," stated Andre Levingston, Interim President & CEO of the National Basketball League of Canada. "It is part of our mission to help raise the profile of basketball in this great country, and the All Canada Classic is certainly aligned with that goal."

During the three-day long event, the country's best high school basketball prospects will have the opportunity to showcase their skills in front of thousands of Canadian basketball fans.

"Many Canadian players slated to be in this year's NBA draft have played in the All Canada Classic," says Levingston. "Also, two former players from our NBL team in Halifax, Jevohn Shepherd and Jermaine Anderson, have also played in the event."

Levingston says that he is excited to play a part in celebrating the country's young basketball talent, and is confident that basketball fans will one day see several of the players featured in the All Canada Classic playing in the National Basketball League of Canada.

The National Basketball League of Canada recently announced that eight Canadian cities have formally applied to participate in the league's inaugural, which is slated to officially tip off in November 2011.

Related: <http://www.sportstream.ca/sports-ns-nb-pe-nf/35-video/18753-goodbye-pbl-rainmens-andre-levingston-speaks.html>

Sportstream is the webcasting home of the Halifax Rainmen. Follow us on twitter @sportstream and check us out on Facebook.

Last Updated on Tuesday, 21 June 2011 14:40